GERMANY CRITICISES U. S.

America Taken To Task For Aiding Allies.

Exchanges Made Public Show Em- bargo On Munitions Urged By Bernstorff.

Washington, April 11.—Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador made public tonight the text of a note recently presented to the State Department, declaring that "if the American people desire to observe true neutrality they will find means to stop the exclusive exportations of arms to one side, or at least to use this export trade as a means to uphold the legitimate trade with Germany, especially the trade in foodstuffs."

The memorandum was prepared at the German Embassy, and while it does not call for a reply, the State Department has already drafted one which will probably be delivered within the next few days.

The Ambassador in his complaint informs the United States that contrary to the real spirit of neutrality an enormous new industry of war material of every kind is being built up in this country and that this is "supplying only Germany's enemies, a fact which is in no way modified by the purely theoretical willingness to furnish Germany as well, if it were possible."

The text of this memorandum follows:

Text of Note.

"The different British orders-in-council have altered the universally recognized rules of international law in such a one-sided manner that they arbitrarily suppress the trade of neutral countries with Germany. Already prior to the last order-in-council the shipment of conditional contraband, especially foodstuffs, to Germany was practically impossible. In fact, prior to the protest which the American Government made in London on December 28, 1914, not a single shipment of such goods for Germany has been affected from the United States."

"Also after the lodging of the protest and as far as is known to the German embassy only one such shipment has been attacked by an American skipper. Ship and cargo were immediately seized by the British and are still detained at a British port. As a pretext from this unwarranted action the British Government referred to a decree of the German Federal Council concerning the wheat trade, although this decree only covered wheat and flour and no other foodstuffs, although imported foodstuffs were especially exempt from this decree and although the German government had given all necessary guarantees to the United States Government and had even proposed a special organization in order to secure these foodstuffs for the civilian population."

Violation Claimed.

"The seizure of an American ship under these circumstances was in contradiction with the recognized principles of international law. Nevertheless, the United States Government has not yet obtained the release of the ship, nor has it after eight months of war succeeded in safeguarding the legitimate American trade with Germany. Such a delay, especially when the supply of foodstuffs in concerned seems equivalent to complete failure. It is therefore assumed that the United States Government has accepted England's violations of international law."

"Furthermore has to be considered the attitude of the Government of the United States concerning the question of the exportation of war material. The imperial embassy hopes to agree with the Government of the United States in assuming that with regard to the question of neutrality there is not only the formal side to be considered, but also the spirit in which neutrality is enforced."

"Conditions in the present war are different from those in any former wars. For this reason it is not justified to point at the fact that perhaps in former wars Germany furnished heliogens with war material. Because in these former cases the question was not whether any war material was to be furnished to the belligerents, but merely which one of the competing countries would furnish it. In the present war, with the exception of the United States, all the countries capable of a noteworthy production of war material are either at war themselves or completing their armaments and have accordingly prohibited the exportation of war material. Therefore, the United States of America is the only country in a position to export war material. The fact ought to give a new meaning to the idea of neutrality, independent of the formal law."

Industry In Munitions.

"Instead of that and in contradiction with the real spirit of neutrality an enormous new industry of war materials of every kind is being built up in the United States, inasmuch as not only the existing plants are kept busy and enlarged, but also new ones are continually founded."

"The international agreements for the protection of the right of neutrals originate in the necessity for protecting the existing industries of the neutral countries. They were never intended to encourage the creation of entirely new industries in neutral States, as for instance, the new war industry in the United States, which supplies only one party of the belligerents."

"In reality, the American industry is supplying only Germany's enemies, a fact which is in no way modified by the purely theoretical willingness to furnish Germany as well, if it were possible."

"If the American people desire to observe true neutrality, they will find means to stop the exclusive exportation of arms to one side, or at least to use this export trade as a means to uphold the legitimate trade with Germany, especially the trade in foodstuffs. This spirit of neutrality should appear the more justified to the United States as it has been maintained toward Mexico."

"According to a declaration of a Congressman made in the House Committee for Foreign Relations December 30, 1914, President Wilson is quoted as having said on February 14, 1914, when the embargo on arms for Mexico was lifted:

Wilson Quoted.

"We should stand for genuine neutrality considering the surrounding facts of the case. He then held in that case because Carranza had no ports while Huerta had them and was able to import these materials that it was our duty as a nation to treat them (Carranza and Huerta) upon an equality if we wished to observe the true spirit of neutrality as compared to a mere paper neutrality."

"This conception of 'the true spirit of neutrality,' if applied to the present case, would lead to an embargo of arms."

In reply to published reports to the effect that American officials were irritated at the announcement of the Embassy's intention to make the memorandum public, Count von Bernstorff said tonight:

"There is nothing unusual in the publication as well as all the American notes, that went to Berlin, including that regarding the Frye case, have been published. As to further criticism that Germany had in former wars taken the same attitude as the United States in regard to the sale of ammunition to belligerents, I desire to call attention to what Andrew D. White, American Ambassador to Germany, at the time of the Spanish-American War, said in his autobiography in regard to a Spanish vessel which was reported by the American consul at Hamburg, to be suspected of being loaded with guns for use against the United States in Cuba. Mr. White said:

"I hastened to the Foreign Office, and urged that vigorous steps be taken, with the result that the vessel, which in the meantime had left Hamburg, was overhauled and searched at the mouth of the Elbe. The German government might easily have pleaded, in answer to my request, that the American Government had generally shown itself opposed to any such interference with the shipment of small arms to belligerents and had contended that it was not obliged to search vessels to find such contraband of war, but that this duty was incumbent upon the belligerent nation concerned."

LAST THOUGHTS OF BATTLE FOR PEOPLE

Kansas City Editor Kept Up Fight Even While On Death Bed.

Kansas City, Mo., April 23.—Funeral arrangements for William Rockhill Nelson, editor of the Star, who died this morning, were being completed by the family today. Mr. Nelson had been unconscious since Thursday last. Death was due to uraemic poisoning. Mr. Nelson's last conference with his associates took place in his bedroom the day before he became unconscious. It pertained to the necessity of keeping up the fight for honest elections.

"That is a fundamental for democratic government," he said. "I may not be here to see the fight won, but the Star will fight with all its resources until the present rotten system is broken down."

As Mr. Nelson became weaker it was necessary to resort to artificial means to prolong his life. He objected vigorously. Last Thursday, a few hours before he became unconscious, he protested to his physician against keeping him alive artificially. Thursday he sank into a coma from which he did not rally.

A day or so before he became unconscious Mr. Nelson, realizing the probability of a fatal termination of his illness, said to a friend: "The Lord has been far better to me than I deserve. I have had a long life and a happy life with great opportunities for usefulness. My only regret is that I have not accomplished more. But if this is the end I am ready."

Throughout his illness the problem of the poor was of intense concern to him. He made large gifts to charitable institutions and was absorbed in the work of a soup kitchen which his daughter, Mrs. Kirkwood, inaugurated and conducted.

While no formal statement was made, it was announced that "as far as is humanly possible the Star will be conducted in accordance with the aims and ideas of Mr. Nelson."

Bull Moose Party Dead.

Washington, April 10.—Senator Miles Polindexter, of Washington, the only progressive in the United States senate, will announce himself a Republican when he arrives at his home in Spokane soon. He will declare his purpose to run in the Republican primaries as "a Progressive Republican" for the United States senate next year.

Senator Polindexter agrees with most of his Progressive associates that the third party is no longer serving any useful purpose and in many places, as in Washington state, is dividing the Progressive element to the detriment of the general cause.

He will leave next Tuesday for Spokane. His defection to the Republicans blots out the Bull Moose party in the United States senate, and is another evidence of the general collapse of that movement.

Wrong Man Released.

Ottawa, Ont., April 12.—Through a clerical error the authorities of the penitentiary at Kingston, Ont., released from custody Thomas M. Riley, serving a term for manslaughter, on a pardon intended for Thomas Riley also serving time for manslaughter. It was announced here tonight. The mistake was discovered when a clergyman from London, Ont., received a letter from the freed Riley now living in Everton Mo., thanking him for his efforts to procure the pardon.

The clergyman had made no effort to procure Riley's release and started an inquiry which revealed that the pardon was for Thomas Riley, serving a seven year term for killing his wife at Hamilton, Ont., and was granted on the ground of Riley's ill health. Instead it freed Thomas M. Riley, serving a fifteen year term for manslaughter for the killing of a bartender in London, Ont.

It was announced that the Government intends to rectify the mistake by releasing Thomas Riley, and at the same time make an effort to extradite Thomas M. Riley and compel him to serve out his time.

POLITICAL EFFORT TO RUIN BANK

Legal Proceedings Begun Against Secretary Of The Treasury.

Washington, April 12.—The Riggs National Bank, the largest financial institution in Washington, today began legal proceedings against Secretary McAdoo and Controller of the Currency Williams to compel them to desist from alleged efforts to ruin its business.

Temporary and permanent injunctions were asked from the District of Columbia Supreme Court against these officials. The bill of complaint alleges that Messrs. McAdoo and Williams have persecuted the bank for more than a year past, culminating March 30 with a refusal to pay $5,000 interest on government bonds on deposit with the United States to secure the bank's circulation.

The refusal is alleged to have resulted from a failure on the part of the bank to make special reports demanded by the Controller, the $5,000 representing a penalty of $100 a day imposed.

In its petition the bank declares that Mr. Williams exceeded his authority in demanding such reports and asks the United States Treasurer John Burke be enjoined from withholding the $5,000 interest.

Bremen Deposit Bank In Voluntary Liquidation.

Frankfort, Ky., April 13.—The Bremen Deposit Bank of Bremen, Muhlenburg county, went into voluntary liquidation to-day, upon the advice of John B. Chenault, State bank examiner, who examined it last Friday, with the approval of State Banking Commissioner, Thomas J. Smith. The bank will wind up its own affairs and go out of business. All its obligations will be met. Lack of business to justify continuance of the concern was the reason for liquidation.

The bank was organized in 1907 with $15,000 capital stock.

Physician Dies While Making Call.

Seabee, Ky., April 13.—Dr. C. L. Edwards, 51 years old, the best-known physician in Webster county, died last night two miles from town while making a professional call. He had taken a patient to a sanatorium in Evansville yesterday morning, returning in the afternoon, and had attended church services at night. After church he was called to the country and left home in apparently good health. When he arrived at the home of his patient he was ill and told them to get another doctor. He sat down on a chair and expired in a few minutes. He had twice been Mayor of the city, and was a prominent Mason and Knight of Pythias. He was a member of the Baptist church. He is survived by his wife and one daughter. Heart failure is given as the cause of his death.

Col. Roosevelt Denounces Woman's Peace Propaganda.

Chicago, April 10.—Publication of the fact that Col. Theodore Roosevelt had written a letter denouncing the woman's peace propaganda, caused a sharp discussion among leaders of the movement here today. The letter reposed in the custody of Mrs. William I. Thomas, secretary of the Women's Peace Party, and she refused to allow its publication.

"Mrs. Jane Addams says she sees no reason for secrecy about the letter," Mrs. Thomas was told.

"She may have thought that when she spoke, but now she agrees with me that here were sentences in the letter that it would be unwise to make public," retorted Mrs. Thomas. "Although Col. Roosevelt has said he would be delighted to have the letter published, I think it unwise to make it public."

The misadventure, which aroused the discussion was sent to Mrs. George Rublee, of Washington. One report had it that the Colonel said that pacifists in general constituted a "menace to the future welfare of the United States."

"Of course everyone knows Col. Roosevelt's views on militarism and peace, and it is not wonderful that he may have expressed himself strongly in opposition to peace propaganda," said Miss Addams, who is to head the Chicago delegation of twelve to the Woman's Peace Conference at The Hague. "Personally I had no objections to giving out the letter, but it appears that the letter sent here, which I supposed to have been a copy, was really the original."

Those in the party to start from here Sunday for The Hague besides Miss Addams and Mrs. Thomas are: Miss Sophronisa P. Breckinridge, Miss Grace Abbott, Mrs. William B. Lloyd, Miss Florence Holbrook, Dr. Alice Hamilton, Mrs. Julius Leob, Mrs. Robert Kohlhammer, Mrs. Herbert Willett, Miss Emily Napier and William H. Tuthill.

Stanley's Glad Ordeal All Over.

Indianapolis, April 13.—A. O. Stanley, retiring Congressman from Kentucky and attorney for Mayor Donn M. Roberts and most of the twenty seven Terre Haute politicians who fought the Government case, explained here how he felt after it was all over.

"I would not go through this again for a king's ransom," said Stanley. "It has been a terrible seige. I've just felt my way through darkness. I understood the case was to have been prepared before I arrived. I have sat day after day through this trial just feeling my way. The only defendant I knew before I arrived was Roberts. He came to Washington for me. I was just expected to help out and make the closing address. I had to assume charge of it all. The people know I have always been against election corruption. I am here only in the capacity of a lawyer."

The Liquor Issue.

One result of Mr. Bryan's commitment for prohibition must be to bar him from the stump this year and next in certain states. For in many States prohibition is, or soon, will be, an issue, and voters are taking sides. Two States will illustrate the point.

In Kentucky this year a full State ticket is to be elected. As matters stand, one hundred and six of the one hundred and twenty counties of the Commonwealth are dry under a county unit law, and many Democrats want this year's campaign based on that law—on the proposition that it is working well, and is sufficient to meet all the requirements of reasonable temperance sentiment.

But there are Democrats insisting on State-wide prohibition, and declaring that this year's platform must contain a prohibition plank, and that the party's candidates must accept in good faith and solicit votes on it.

Suppose, as now seems likely, the county unit men win. Mr. Bryan could not participate in the campaign without incurring criticism, and maybe injuring the Democratic ticket. He is a prohibitionist, and Henry Watterson asserts that no Democrat can be a prohibitionist. And Mr. Watterson, despite some reverses, is still a power in Kentucky politics.

In Indiana next year a full State ticket and a United States Senator are to be elected Mr. Kern, to whom Mr. Bryan is much attached, will stand for a second term in the Senate, and of course Mr. Bryan will want to help. But the Hoosier Democrats are not going to declare for State-wide prohibition, and Mr. Bryan as a prohibitionist might find stumping in such circumstances a little awkward. He would confront his prohibition deliverances wherever he went.

What will be the loss to the democracy from this source? Mr. Bryan remains, after eighteen years of activity, his party's most popular and effective orator. He is, not excluding even the President himself, the strongest individual force in the party. Very many more men swear by him than at him.

But there are great numbers of Democrats who will not accept prohibition even from him. They agree with Mr. Watterson that prohibition is repugnant to the record and profession of the democracy, and that the Democrat who accepts the doctrine ceases by the act to be a Democrat.

A very lively time is scheduled for both parties of the temperance issue, and before this time next year some Republican of eminence—as great as Mr. Watterson enjoys on his side of the fence—may declare that no Republican can be a prohibitionist. Which will make a genuine howdy-do.

DON ROBERTS GETS SIX YEARS

He Is Also Fined Two Thousand Dollars.

Circuit Judge and Sheriff Draw Five Years—Others Get Three Years.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 12.—Mayor Don Roberts, convicted of fraud in the Terre Haute election case, was today sentenced to six years in Leavenworth prison and ordered to pay a fine of $2,000; Circuit Court Judge Eli Redman, Sheriff Dennis Shea were given sentences of five years and fines of $1,000 each; the president of the board of public works, Harry Montgomery, City Judge Smith, member of the board of public works, George Arenhardt, and Democratic Central Committee Secretary Edward Driscoll were sentenced to three years each and given a fine of $500.

Louis Nuely, assistant city engineer, Elmer E. Talbott, former city comptroller Hilton Redman, son of Eli E. Redman, John E. Green, proprietor of a second hand store, and William S. Crockett, an employee at the city cemetery were sentenced to two years and fined $100 each.

Maurice Walsh, county sealer of weights and measures, and treasurer of the campaign fund, John M. Maszelski, city inspector of weights and measures and member of 1911 Indiana legislature, Charles Hough, assistant custodian of the city hall, Joseph O'Mara, street commissioner, Alexander Aczel, inspector of street paving, Arthur Gillis, progressive clerk on the election board, Joseph Strauss, liquor salesman, George Sovern, gambler, were sentenced to one year and a day in the penitentiary and fined $100. Chief of Police Holler, who had pleaded guilty, was given a year and a day sentence and fined $100.

George Woodall, William P. O'Donnell, George Evans John Clark, Sylvester Jordan, George Rouse, Clarence Stark, Frank Kiser, Simon Stingley, all saloonkeepers, and Fred Morrison, an employee of the engineering department of Terre Haute was sentenced to six months in Marion county jail and fined $10.

It was said to be the largest number sentenced at one time in the local Federal Court.

Before sentence was passed, Judge Anderson overruled motions for new trials, filed on behalf of 27 found guilty by jury last Tuesday and to arrest judgement. Exceptions were taken to the court's decision.

Notices of appeal were filed for 20 convicted men who were sentenced to the penitentiary. Judge Anderson said he would fix the appeal bond the same as was fixed in the dynamite conspiracy case two years ago. This was at a rate of $10,000 for each year of prison term given, Roberts appeal bond being $60,000.

As soon as sentence had been passed on all the courtroom was cleared and all spectators and defendants were taken in charge by United States Marshal Storen and his deputies. They were served with lunch in the Federal building and later were taken to jail.

There was no demonstration when the sentences were passed, neither among the prisoners nor their relatives who crowded the courtroom. Although the crowd filled corridors of the building very few were allowed to enter the court room.

Edward Holler, former chief of police, of Terre Haute, was the only one of the 89, who pleaded guilty to receive a prison sentence. Mr. Dalley announced that four men, whose sentences were reserved, would be witness for the government trial of Roy Shattuck, Republican candidate for congress in the Fifth district and four other Republicans on a similar indictment.

Judge Anderson set the trial for May 17.

TRYING FORCE ON REPUBLICANS

Palmer Seeks To Make Us
Cat's Paw.

Anti-Saloon League Would Divide
Republican Party To Aid McChesney.

A. N. A. Palmer, a Michigan Prohibitionist is to nominate our candidate for Governor and there is also a rumor current that the Prohibition party has made the statement that it is going to control the Republican Convention that is to meet in Lexington, June 15th and some of Mr. McChesney's friends are going to assist in putting it over. This has a two fold meaning. The Prohibitionists are going to try to control the convention because they want a State-wide platform, thinking that by forcing the Republicans to take the stand, it will give them a lever to work on the Democrats, should that party hold a convention later on. The friends of Mr. McChesney think, should the Republicans place a State-wide plank in their platform it would mean Mr. McChesney's candidacy in August. Is it possible that Ed C. O'Leary is into this deal? This plan is to be carried out by having some Prohibitionist on the Resolution Committee in as many counties as possible when the Republicans meet to select delegates to the Lexington convention. Should they fail to get some of the Resolution Committee, then some Prohibitionist is to offer the Resolution from the floor of the convention. We hope that the Republicans of Kentucky will not be deceived by this move.

The Lexington convention is to be a Republican Convention and it should be controlled by Republicans, and we would respectfully but earnestly request members of other political parties that unless they can honestly and conscientiously subscribe to the principles of the Republican party, they should go join the party having principles nearer their heart, and have the decency to stay away from the Republican convention. We hope that the Republicans of Kentucky are getting together, they are getting together on the idea that it is to be a Republican year, that the party is going to pursue a conservative policy. It is going to relieve the State burdens that are weighing heavily upon the taxpayers; the people are coming to that party for relief and if any man or set of men, should enter that Convention with any other idea in view, he or they, in the case may be, should be marked by more than 200,000 loyal Republicans of the State, and given to understand, that this is no time for foolishness. The Republican party will not stand for outside influences, emissaries from other political parties, attempting to transfer to the Republicans that are in league with other political parties, who are working to undermine the Republican party, they will be found out and they will be shown up in their true colors. This will be a Republican year, if the spies and traitors are detected in time.

We have no interest in the fight going on in the Democratic party. We care not which one of their candidates is placed at the head of their ticket. Neither do we care who the Prohibitionists nominate. We are not interested in their fight, they have only one plank in their platform, and we do not want that one in ours. We learned to our sorrow in 1911 that the Prohibition vote is an uncertain quantity. We adopted the platform they wanted, we nominated the candidate they asked for, and in November 50 per cent. of them voted the Democratic ticket along with 99 per cent. of the whiskey vote, and all of the Democrats.

A man with one eye and half sense ought not to want to repeat the 1911 Sham Battle.

There is not a leading Democratic paper in the State that is advocating State-wide Prohibition, notwithstanding the fact that two candidates for Governor have announced on that platform. Nothing would give our Democratic friends more delight than to see the Republicans embark on the disastrous sea of State-wide Prohibition, in order to send us on the rocks in November, and our Prohibition friends, who betrayed us in 1911, would be delighted to act as galli herders at the funeral.

The leaders of the Prohibition party (the male end of it) have already declared for Mr. McChesney

A Nervous Wreck

Had No
Desire
To Live
Peruna
Is A
Tonic and Strength
Builder
So Says

Mrs. Frank Stroebe, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis. Her letter reads: "I began using Peruna a few months ago when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live."

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life."

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement." Mr. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 73, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder."

for Governor, and have sent letters to preachers and laymen advising them to vote that way, while the female end of that contingent say, that they see no reason for deserting Mr. Newman, another State-wider. Suppose one of these gentlemen should be nominated (and both of them say they are certain to be) the Prohibitionists are morally bound to support that candidate, because under the present Primary Law, one entering the Primary promises to support the choice of the Primary, and if they enter the Primary and vote for any one of the Democratic candidates for Governor, they are honor bound, and morally bound to support the Democratic nominee in November even though the candidate should be Mr. Stanley, Mr. Cherry, Mr. Bosworth or Mr. McDermott on any old kind of a platform, whether it be wet or dry. Under these conditions we would like to ask our Prohibition friends what right they have to be playing in our back yard, after giving our interviews to the public press and mailing our letters all over the State to stand by Mr. McChesney and Mr. Newman. If they are honest they are tied hand and foot to the Democratic party and could not honestly offer us anything, however much they might want to. We think (if they will allow us to suggest) the thing they should have done would have been to gathered their crowd and bunched them in a body and gone to the Republican and Democratic parties and said to them "Here is our crowd, we will give this many votes to the party offering us the best bargain," then they would have been in a position to trade, they would have had something to trade on, but as it is they have gone to "Jockey Street" once too often. We would like to see the Republican, who after reading their interviews and letters, that would want to trade with them in this election. The only way you could trade would be on honor and if they are honorable they are gone from us this time. The Republicans would have to deliver their goods first and trust to their honor to deliver theirs in November, for them to do that would be to go back on their interviews and letters.

Judge O'Rear delivered to them first and what they did for him in November was a plenty.

If there ever was a candidate that deserved their united support, it was Judge O'Rear. If there ever was a candidate that failed to get their support it was Judge O'Rear. Republicans of Kentucky, this is one time we should all be standpaters. Stand by the County Unit, as you did in 1907 and 1911, stand for its enforcement, but beyond that you should not go. Do right and the world will respect you. Do not go into any deal with the whiskey men, nor with the anti-Saloon League, but stand by what is right, and challenge the world to combat, and you will be able to read your titles clear in November. Your majority will be too large to contest, and you can look your fellow man in the face with a clear conscience.—Green River Republican.

BANKERS ARRESTED BY DEPUTY MARSHAL

W. B. Catching and McCalla
Fitzgerald Taken Into Custody.

London, Ky., April 10.—Federal warrants were received here today by Deputy United States Marshal R. M. Young for the arrest of McCalla Fitzgerald cashier and W. B. Catching, president of the First National Bank of London, which was closed by order of the Controller of the Currency April 2, 1914, because of impairment of capital.

Indictments were returned against Catching and Fitzgerald in the United States District Court at Covington yesterday, charging false entries, false reports and misappropriation of the bank's fund.

Both men promptly executed bonds before United States Commissioner George C. Moore for their appearance at Covington for trial on October 18. F. M. Barnett a prominent hardware merchant and farmer, signed as surety for Catching, and Fitzgerald furnished surety in the person of T. G. Moren, a well-to-do insurance man and dealer in machinery and farm implements and vehicles.

Both men are prominent and belong to influential families. No man has been so active or closely identified with the development of London as Catching, who has been for years rated as the wealthiest man in Larnel County.

Fitzgerald has long been well and favorably known in banking circles, and until the bank's failure had never been accused of any misconduct.

Some Forms of Rheumatism Curable.

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are: Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Rheumatic Headaches, Sciatic Rheumatism and Lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain, and especially Rheumatic Pain, because it penetrates to the seat of the trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." Get a 25c bottle now. Keep it handy in case of emergency.

Business Men Will Select the Next National Administration.

It is in the air that American business men are resolved upon asserting their right to be represented in national affairs. In Washington circles, as set forth by the correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, the feeling is general that the next Administration is going to be selected by business men.

In the Middle West, according to the correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, business men are organizing for the campaign of 1916 and are intending to become a leading factor in the events and results of next year.

In New York ex-Senator Root has been telling the men of big business that the time has come for them to assert the right of business men to do business without being hampered and crippled by the hostile legislation and the anti-business proclivities of the present Federal Government.

In Louisiana the reputable businessmen, regardless of previous party affiliations are forming plans which look toward the rescue of that State from the blighting consequences of Free-Trade.

In Florida, where the business of growing fruit and vegetables for the Northern market has been practically ruined by the free list of the Underwood Tariff sentiment is developing that bids fair to work important changes in the politics of that State.

In Texas Free-Trade in wool, live stock and other farm products has embittered great numbers of men who have hitherto voted the Democratic ticket, and the situation is ripe for revolt from the political machine that operates blindly, always for a party and never intelligently for the best interests of the people.

In practically every State in the Union in the South as well as in the North, there are signs of positive and aggressive activity among business men in the assertion of the principle that "business has rights which politicians are bound to respect."

The influence of business men in politics was plainly visible in the congressional elections of 1914. This was notably true in Pennsylvania, where, in spite of some disadvantageous conditions, among them a "Progressive" candidate whose only function was, or possibly could be, the division of the Republican vote the senatorial nominee who stood specifically for the industrial and business interests of the Commonwealth was elected by an overwhelming majority. Pennsylvania's business men showed what could be done when business men decided to take a hand in politics.

It is time that the politicians were taught the same lesson all over the country; time that business men came to the front and by their votes and their influence and their active participation in political affairs disputed the long-standing assumption of political demagogues that it is a crime to do business and make money.

But if this result is to be accomplished, if the right to employ labor pay wages and do business is to be established and maintained, the business men must get busy. They must do things. It is not enough that they should merely advise and request. They will have to get into politics bodily. When it comes to choosing delegates to convention they should themselves go as delegates and not send substitutes. If, for example, the Republican National Convention of 1916 should be more than half made up of business men, it would be the best thing that could happen for the party and for the country.

Then, indeed it would prove true that American business men are to select the next national Administration.

Stomach Trouble Cured.

The Bashful Man.

Many a man, and many a woman, for that matter, is pining in the shades of single blessedness who might have emerged into the sunshine of matrimony long ago if they had been quick witted to see their chance or bold enough to take advantage when they saw it. Though matrimony is a serious step in life, it has often been brought about by a joke, which, if one of the parties had not been sufficiently witty to perpetrate, or the other had not been sufficiently smart to see and take advantage of, the happy union would never have taken place.

For instance, a doctor who had been attending a lady friend was on her recovery asked what his charge would be. He replied that he seldom or never made a definite charge to his patient-friends, being well content to leave the matter not only to their own time but to their own sense of what was due.

"But are you not often very disappointed with the result?" asked the lady. "I may say that I never am," said the doctor.

"As you are so easily pleased, here, then," said the lady giving the doctor her empty right hand, while she kept concealed a check for a handsome amount in the other hand.

"How easily I could have taken you in," she said a moment later, laughing in the doctor's face and showing him the check.

"On the contrary," said the doctor, "you only succeeded in drawing me out. Don't insult me with a check. I am generously rewarded and could wish nothing better." And he looked down at the empty hand which he had refused to relinquish. Such a plain hint could scarcely be misunderstood.

A lady with a fine figure having taken a fancy to a ring which she saw ticketed in a fancy shop window went inside to examine it.

"It is exceedingly lovely I wish it were mine," she said on satisfying herself. "What smaller figure will tempt you?"

"No other figure than the figure before me," he said giving her an admiring look at the same time. "It is exceedingly lovely. I wish I could tempt you with the ring."

"I think I'll take it," she said, laying down the money amid blushes.

A member of the House of Representatives had been paying attention to a young lady for a long time and had taken her to attend the House until she was well posted in the rules. On the last day of the session, as they came out, he bought her a bouquet of flowers and said to her: "May I offer you my handful of flowers?"

She replied promptly: "I move to amend by omitting all after the word hand."

He blushing seconded the amendment and they adopted it unanimously.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE WAR

Torpedo Boats Are Enemies of Submarines.

Religious Services Are Held At the Kaiser's Headquarters.

Count Reventlow, in the Berlin Tageszeitung, describes a "submarine hunt" by British destroyers as follows:

"The light-footed torpedo boats either cruise at definite distances from each other or they lie still, preserving the same distances. Each of them, however, exercises all the time an extremely careful control of that section of the sea appointed for it. The moment that a periscope of a submarine appears above the surface, it is fired at, or else a torpedo boat which happens to be favorable placed for the maneuver leaps at top speed toward the point where the submarine has appeared, its object being to ram the submarine before the adversary has seen it or has time to dive deep enough to enable the vessel to glide over it.

"Even if the attempt to ram is a failure, the enemy's destroyers increase their watchfulness, on the ground that the submarine must sooner or later come somewhere to the surface to get its bearings. That is particularly the case in waters where there is a great deal of merchant shipping.

Owing to the narrow range of vision of the submarine through its periscope, compared with the range of its own visibility from the bridge of a destroyer, it is quite possible for a destroyer to reach the spot, traveling at full speed, before the submarine in turn can sight the destroyer and dive for safety.

"It follows necessarily that submarines should show themselves as little as possible on the surface of the water. Recently it has been repeatedly stated that German submarines have summoned British or French steamers to atop and ordered the crew to leave the vessel by signal or megaphone. That is doubtless humane, but it is exceedingly dangerous, and may be even suicide.

"Destroyers so far off, or in such light as to be visible from a submarine, may be lurking or may note the meeting of submarine and steamer and may rapidly approach the spot, hidden perhaps behind the merchant ship. The delay in sinking the merchantman may prove fatal to the submarine.

"The torpedo boat is the submarine's worst enemy. They can be used in all waters. There are large numbers of them available. They are exceedingly mobile, and can rise from passivity to maximum speed at a moment's notice. They carry guns with very rapid fire and capable of mortally injuring, at a considerable distance, any submarine showing itself on the surface."

The Kaiser at Church.

A description of religious services held at the Kaiser's Great Headquarters, and attended by the Kaiser himself, was given out by the German Information Service. The author of the article is Ludwig Granhofer, the Bavarian writer and friend of the Kaiser, Granhofer's story which is a translation from the Munich Neueste Nachrichten, reads:

"In this little city which harbors the Great Headquarters, a large room has been transformed into a church, and here Divine services are held for the Kaiser and the garrison of the headquarters.

"It is the hour for service. The large room is filled with rows of soldiers of the line, reserves, and Landsturm—strong, sturdy figures with heavy, calm, bearded faces, and also the small cavalry troops of the royal guard, which is formed from all the cavalry regiments of the various German States.

"In their pews officers and musicians stand awaiting the Emperor. A command is given, and the click of the soldiers' heels sounds like a blow of iron. On the board floor next sounds the quite but steady tread of a single man. Through files of soldiers the Kaiser strides to his pew.

"The Emperor's face is serious, calm, reverent. His eyes are raised upward.

"The organ, assisted by eight trumpeters, peals forth the music of the opening hymn, and then Chaplain Gons, who has the venerable appearance of an ecclesiastic of the seventeenth century, steps up to the altar.

"An ancient hymn now awells from 2,000 throats in a mighty wave, thrilling all who hear. It vibrates with the fervor of faith. The hymn ends, and we are now to hear the sermon.

"The sermon ended and another hymn having been sung, everything grows perfectly quiet.

"There is no shuffling of feet, no clearing of throats, but absolute silence. The Kaiser has risen and has taken his helmet from his head. His face is happier, his eyes are brighter than when he came. With his face raised to the cross the Emperor prays in silence. While outside the troops were forming to file past him to the sound of rifle and drum.

"'Twas Sure Some Fish—But the Kaiser's Kind.

Four fishermen who had anchored their boat near Deal report a visit from a German submarine, which scared the quartet out of their wits and spoiled the fishing for the day, says a London cable.

One of the men noticed a disturbance of the water just beyond the end of his fishpole. He shouted to his companions, thinking that a shark or some other big fish had been entangled in his lines. All four had their eyes glued to the spot, when a submarine emerged a few yards away. A door in the top opened and a single head appeared for a minute or two. Then the head withdrew, the door was closed and the craft sank slowly out of sight.

As soon as the fishermen regained their senses they took off their clothes and put on life preservers in case their boat, barely large enough to boast a sail, was attacked. The wind being dead for the moment they rowed for the shore, where they informed the life guards of their escape.

Harden Says Mines Will Circle Britain.

Maximilian Harden in his latest lecture at Berlin on the course of the war said:

"Our chief enemy, England, has, it is true, not yet received any mortal wound, but the greatest danger is threatening her from our submarines. As soon as we have succeeded in extending the radius of action of the four bigger submarine types they can be used for lavish laying of mines.

"On that day the island kingdom will find itself surrounded by a new circle of mines and her mastership of the sea will be at an end. In everything Germany can have confidence. After eight months of tremendous struggle, it is true, it is not standing as conqueror, but its power is untouched."

Last August Germany had building five submarines of the type U-25-30, of 800 tons displacement, a surface speed of 10, and a radius of 2,500 or 3,000 miles. In addition to four 20-inch torpedo tubes—two forward and two aft—this type carries two large disappearing rapid-fire guns capable of firing shells either direct or at high angle, and two 1-pounders. To this type belongs the U-29, commanded by Capt. Lieut. Weddigen, formerly of the U-9, which had sunk six merchantmen up to March 29, when her loss was reported.

The U-25-30 type with its radius of 2,500 or 3,000 miles may be included in the "four bigger submarine types" mentioned by Herr Harden. It is known, however, that there is a new type, U-40-50, one of which, the U-47, made its maiden trip in the middle of February. A description of this trip was written by the commander for the Berlin press without, however, revealing any of the details of the craft except that she had an automatic plane on board.

A Sample of Prosperity.
President Wilson contends that the country is in a prosperous condition—notwithstanding the government's cash fund is at the danger line, the outgo exceeding the income and Congress bothered about raising sufficient revenue from a nation already taxed to the limit—and no immediate relief in sight.

Caldwell County is probably no exception to the general rule throughout the country—there is no reason why it should be—and this being the case, the bank figures refute President Wilson's statement and show a wonderful falling off in deposits by the people.

The statements of the fifteen banks of this country for a corresponding period of last year showed the people of Caldwell County had deposits aggregating $2,028,181.88; this year the same banks show deposits aggregating only $1,913,176.17—a decrease of $115,005.71 for the county.

If every county throughout the nation shows a decrease so little as half as much, the depreciation should be sufficient to convince even the President that there's just a little stagnation.—Kingston (Mo.) Mercury.

Fire At Smith Mills.

Henderson, Ky., April 10.—For the fourth time in twelve months the little city of Smith Mills was visited by a disastrous fire this morning, entailing a loss of approximately $15,500, with $8,000 insurance. The origin of the fire is not known, but is believed to have started from a lighted cigar thrown into a wooden box containing sawdust and used as a cuspidor.

The fire was first discovered by Orving Rapp, who gave the alarm. A shower of rain earlier in the night probably saved the town from destruction.

Those who lost by the flames were Walter P. Keelan, stock of groceries, $10,000 with $6,000 insurance; G. W. Powell, store building, $5,000 with $2,000 insurance; C. A. Allen, barber shop supplies and clothing and laundry, $500 with no insurance. The burned buildings will be replaced.

FRIDAY, APRIL 16.

Huerta is with us again, but he has given no indication that the salute is to be given.

As the days go by the chances for opposition to the nomination of Ed. Morrow grow less.

Taft and Roosevelt met and shook hands recently. Looks like the rest of us can afford to do likewise.

When the regional bank bill was up for passage in Congress it was said it would be a powerful weapon in the hands of officials who had enemies to punish. Is this about to be exemplified, first, in the case of the Riggs National Bank at Washington City?

Mr. Stanley says it is known that he is opposed to "Corruption in elections." Think of the help he might have been to the people of Louisville, who have been robbed at almost every election for ten years, if he had only lifted his powerful voice for the purity of the ballot.

Is Secretary Bryan about to spring National Prohibition on us to cover up the failure of this administration, as he did the free silver question at the close of the Cleveland administration? The issue of National prohibition won't clothe the naked and feed the hungry, any more than free silver did.

Mr. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, says the Chicago election is not to be taken as a rebuke to the Wilson Administration. That the unprecedented Republican plurality was due to local conditions. What if it had gone largely Democratic? Would not Mr. McCombs have claimed it as an endorsement of the administration policies?

Kentucky is in debt more than three million dollars. The debt is increasing at the rate of $230,000 per month. Thieves have been able, we are told, to steal $300,000 from the special penitentiary fund in broad day light, without apprehension. The auto tax fund has been systematically robbed and no conviction could be had. A Democratic paper asks, "Will some of the various candidates for State offices please drop the State wide Prohibition issue a few moments while they suggest some remedy for this condition of affairs?" Here is a remedy. Turn the rascals out.

Secretary McAdoo was the latest selection from the Cabinet to announce "prosperity." The Secretary invented a new scheme to make it look real. He instructed the several hundred National Bank Examiners throughout the country to report to him on business conditions. There were two unsurmountable reasons why these reports were likely to be favorable, even optimistic. In the first place it would have cost the job of any of them to have sent any other kind of report at this time. In the second place a man who is drawing $3,000 per year, paid monthly, without any question or discount, is not expected to notice the pinch of hard times like some poor coal miner whose mine has long ceased to run, or some discharged railroad or factory employee. Now, we all want that wave of prosperity, so long overdue, and which has been so many times announced, but it cannot be talked in. It must have some real existence which can make itself felt by people who are drawing no large salary from the government. If the Secretary really desires to get an expression from over the country, from which to make a prediction as to whether prosperity is here now, or just how many miles out it may be playing on the road let him have the traveling salesmen send in telegrams. If this is not satisfactory we would be willing for him to have each Democratic County Chairman in the United States send in a report and have these reports published. Now, we want it distinctly understood that we are in favor of prosperity no matter how it may come, but we doubt whether Mr. McAdoo's Bank Examiners are fair reporters and we doubt also if it is fair to press them in as reporters. Anyway we are holding ourselves in readiness for the good times, but we don't want the kind of prosperity that is so transparent we may never realize that it is here. We want the kind which we used to have, that we can see and feel and, twenty-four hours to the day.

Democratic Authority.

The Washington Post, a leading Democratic newspaper, and a newspaper which supported Mr. Wilson in his race for the Presidency, and joined in the chorus of abuse. In a recent editorial the Post said:

"Republicans can now rest satisfied as to the results upon the issues which will be presented to the electors in 1916, for, with Mr. Wilson as the candidate, there can be no successful dodging by the party in power of those issues, no covering up or avoidance of the record which thousands of Democrats are ashamed of and which hundreds of thousands of Democrats will repudiate by their votes in 1916.

The party must face its record upon the tariff. Its failure to protect American workmen, American agriculturalists, American manufacturers and American investors will lose it votes in every Congressional district in the nation.

"Fortunately for the country there is no chance for a Democratic victory next year. The country is against its leaders, and recognizes that it has neither convictions nor principles while dominated by its present managers. The party was defeated last year in nearly every important State in the Union, and it is weaker with every day that passes. It repudiated its promise of 1912. It cannot be believed in 1916. Republican victory is assured by the votes of hundreds of thousands of former Democrats.

Finding a New Paramount.

Secretary Bryan's recent activity in behalf of prohibition does not indicate such a lively interest in the promotion of that cause as might appear at first blush. In the really desired to promote prohibition he would not weight it down with the indorsement of the Democratic party. There is a constantly growing majority of American electors who have decided that one might as well try to "gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles" as to try to get any good out of the Democratic party. Its chief function nowadays is to serve as a horrible example Mr. Bryan's real purpose is to help the Democratic party out of its present sorry predicament. He has picked out prohibition as his new paramount. His partiality for paramours is known of all men. But he is not alone about them. He never uses one more than twice. His first was free silver. His next was anti-imperialism, coupled with anti-militarism. The next campaign he sukked, being miffed by the Parker telegram supplementing the St. Louis platform. He mounted the government-ownership paramount, but was forced to dismount by his Southern friends long before the Denver convention. That convention gave birth of a litter of paramours, bank guarantee and a fixed percentage rule for grading trust being the most conspicuous. Next campaign he posed as the savior of the Democratic party from the hideous error of nominating the man for whom the Nebraska Democrats had instructed him to vote.

Early in his political career Mr. Bryan stumped Nebraska, for the Democratic ticket, on a platform in favor of the license system. At divers times he has campaigned in other states where the liquor question was paramount, but even questions from the audience could not elicit a statement from him as to his views of prohibition. Even last fall, while he was campaigning in Ohio, vain efforts to get an expression were made. We do not insinuate that he is not at heart for prohibition. But we do maintain that his record shows that his chief concern is for the Democratic party. Practical friends of prohibition try to keep it from becoming a partisan issue. The prohibition party has only one trophy to show, after forty years' existence. St. John did beat Blaine in New York. But the party now casts a negligible vote. It is usually six weeks after an election before anybody learns the exact figures. And its votes has been smallest in the states that have adopted the most rigorous antiliquor laws. Consequently the shrewdest advocates of prohibition have chosen a different course. They must be praying that the Democratic party will not kill their issue by adopting it.—Globe Democrat.

SPIES WRECK GREAT PLANT

Contained Meat For Use Allies Armies.

Foreigners Seen Fleeing From Scene Few Seconds Before Explosion.

Kansas City, Mo., April 12.—An explosion of dynamite or nitroglycerin, planted by spies, police say, wrecked the six-story beef storage house of the Cudahy Packing company in Kansas City.

More than 1,000,000 pounds of dressed beef, which was destined for the armies of the European allies, is believed to be destroyed. The damage to the building and contents is estimated at $750,000.

Oliver Bennett, an employee, and Patrick Lyons, fireman were blown 50 feet. They may die. Four other men were injured seriously.

Refrigerator cars on a switch track beside the building were smashed flat by the falling walls.

Three unidentified foreigners were seen fleeing from the building a few seconds before the explosion.

Investigation has been followed by a statement from the head of the Kansas City Detective bureau to the effect that clues indicate the wreckers were European spies unfavorable to the allies.

A fire which burst out in the same building several weeks ago and did several thousand dollars worth of damage, was declared at the time to be of incendiary origin.

That there was absolutely no natural cause for this evening's explosion, Superintendent Hale, of the Cudahy company, admitted. There were no gas pipes, gas tanks, ammonia tanks or any other tanks of explosives in the building.

The beef house was 250 by 300 feet and had six stories and a basement. In it were stored 3,000 dressed beefs. There were also quantities of lard, sausage, pork and other grades of meat. The plant was at East Kansas Avenue and the Kaw river.

The explosion apparently took place in the center of the north side of the building, probably on the second floor.

Man's Body Found on Trot Line.

Bowling Green, Ky., April 13.—The body of A. C. Chapman, better known as "Lum" Chapman, a wealthy and prominent farmer of Clark's landing, this county who disappeared suddenly from this city Saturday April 3, was found on a trot-line in Barren river this morning by Cal Rector and Presley Duncan about three-quarters of a mile from the L. & N. bridge where they had been fishing. An ugly gash was found in his head.

Chapman was sixty-one years old and came to this city with his niece Miss Bessie Snell, and in the evening had wandered away. A reward of $200 had been offered for his recovery, whether dead or alive, by his relatives and $5 by coroner Potter, which will be given Rector and Duncan.

A Story of the Recent Chicago Campaign.

She was a woman approaching middle age, with touches of silver in her hair. She was well but not extensively dressed. Her face was gentle and there were soft lines in it which seemed to indicate a thoughtful mind. She was standing on the sidewalk in front of the Thompson headquarters on Randolph street close up to the building. In both hands she clutched a big megaphone.

She was trying hard to make herself heard above the wild storm of sound, but the voice which came from the trumpet was neither shrill nor overloud. It sounded like a vastly exaggerated coo.

"Everybody vote for Thompson. We want Big Bill! We want Big Bill!"

The whole sidewalk for a block was swarming with a shifting, changing mass of yelling people, old and young of both sexes. Four young men their hands on each other's shoulders, walking in lock step, came worming their way through the crowd. The leader yelled through a megaphone.

"One! Two! Three! Four!" he counted. Then, with an extra head of steam "What's the matter with Sweitzer?"

An automobile full of Thompson enthusiasts stood at the edge of the curb. At the challenge they leaped on the seats and raised their megaphones. "Sweitzer, the Irish Kaiser!" yelled one. "He's a scab, that's all!" bellowed a second.

Across Randolph street for a block the opposite sidewalk down into the street was packed with another mob made up of Sweitzer partisans. From both sides rose a conflicting tumult of unintelligible yells.

Through it all the lady with the megaphone stood close to the building in front of the Thompson headquarters and bleated impotently through her huge mouthpiece. One had to be within two feet to distinguish the words.

"We want Big Bill! We want Big Bill!"

Men forcing their way through the jam stopped and looked at her and smiled. It was rather like seeing one's aunt leaning up against the bar in a saloon.

She would not be worth notice but for the fact that during the week of irrational hysteria which preceded election day she was many times multiplied. She may stand as a type of a surprisingly large class.

The first mayoralty campaign in which women voters participated somehow failed to develop the refining and elevating influence which the sex was expected to exert.

It was at the down town meeting of a club organized and presided over by a woman that the nearest approach to a real riot broke out. And women partisans took a leading part in the yelling, catcalling and general disorder which prevented either men or women speakers to make themselves heard from the stage.

When one sees a woman of dignified presence and cultivated appearance greeted with torrents of hisses and insults from the frenzied lips of both men and other women, when one sees her finally driven from the platform with no chance of speaking a word, one is tempted to retire to some quiet spot for a moment and meditate on what it all means.

When one watches a venerable lady, with snowy hair and gracious presence, trying to quell the tumult by waving a flag and almost dancing in the same rhythm, while 1,200 shrieking men and women order her to sit down and chase herself, one remembers his old grandmother and makes a feeble effort to blush.

One is almost tempted to pick that discarded and discredited old relic known as masculine chivalry out of the scrap heap and see how many people would recognize it.

The first riot was at a Sweitzer meeting. By way of being entirely impartial it may be said that the next day exactly the same thing happened in the same place at a Thompson meeting.

At the big political headquarters other things of somewhat the same complexion were to be seen. Masculine politicians were in supreme charge. But each had opened subsidiary headquarters for women voters.

"Yes," said one of the cynical male chiefs, "We've got two headquarters for the ladies. We put them at opposite ends of the building, because the two old girls we've got charge of them would pull each other's hair out if they ever met.

Not the bravest man in Chicago would dare to criticize, no matter how mildly, any of the manifold manifestations of feminism. But perhaps a newspaper reporter may venture to set down some of the things he saw—particularly since he is planning to go out of town immediately.

It is a good thing the English navy people are setting those submarine nets out of this jurisdiction. Fish and Game Warden Sam Riley would arrest the "whole push."

Indiana Vote Frauds.

The jury in the United States Court at Indianapolis has found all the twenty-seven defendants charged with a conspiracy to corrupt the general election at Terre Haute guilty, under the law and the evidence. The prosecution was under a peculiar federal statute, which was applicable only because a member of Congress was chosen at the election at which the frauds took place. There are many lawyers who question the judgement of the court, and, no doubt, its validity will be tested on appeal. While press reports from time to time mentioned remarks of the presiding judge to which exceptions were taken, his instructions to the jury appear to have been fair. The chief question is the applicability to the statute to such a case. Incidentally, there are prosecutions of unquestioned validity growing out of the conduct of one of the defendants and outside friends whose successful issue would be very salutary in a community which has been honeycombed with corruption.

In view of the doubt as to federal jurisdiction, the state authorities should bring immediate criminal action against all the defendants. All the evidence has been gathered and is in record form. It would make the work of the state prosecutor at Terre Haute very light. The matter should not be delayed until the federal appeal is decided. Such delay might result in witnesses dying or moving away or being spirited away. The offenses were so grave that state penalties might well be added to these judge Anderson will impose. But the chief reason for state prosecution is the possibility that the federal convictions may come to naught, on legal grounds. Gov. Ralston owes it to the reputation of his state and party to insist on vigorous state prosecutions of these defendants, who, according to the proof, committed one of the gravest conceivable crimes against the state, affecting its very foundation.—Globe Democrat.

Notice to the Public.
Having bought the pooled poultry at Hartford and Beaver Dam, Ky., we will load two cars at Hartford, Ky., Thursday, April 15th, and Friday, April 16th, 1915. Will load two cars at Beaver Dam, Ky., Wednesday, April 21st, and Thursday, April 22, 1915. It will take 50,000 pounds to fill the above four cars. There are approximately in pool 40,000 pounds. We are first obligated to take care of pooled poultry. Those who are not pooled deliver your poultry on last receiving day at each point. After pooled poultry is received, will take care of the outside at each point, at pooled prices, until each car contains 20,000 lbs. or 80,000 all told, the above figures show that the amount pooled is only about one-half what the four cars will contain. But whatever the pool contains, we are obligated to take care of. From what information we can obtain from the pool committee, it will take as much poultry outside of pool as there is inside of pool, to load the four cars. Understand we will take care of 40,000 lbs. at each point. To avoid confusion at the car, those who are not pooled, bring your poultry on last receiving day at each point.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—“For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine.”—Mrs. S. T. Richmond, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R. I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N. Y.

PERU, N. Y.—“Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it.”—Mrs. Maria Irwin, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N. Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—“The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living.”—Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

REAR-ADMIRAL FISKE WOULD QUIT DESK JOB

Aide For Operations Asks Secretary Daniels To Be Relieved Of Place.

Washington, April 2.—Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske to-day presented a written request to Secretary Daniels asking to be relieved of his duties as aide for operations. He has held the position as senior military adviser to the Secretary of the Navy since shortly before the close of the Taft administration.

No reason was given by Admiral Fiske for his action in his brief communication and he declined to discuss it to-night. In testifying before the House committee on Naval Affairs recently the Admiral expressed views differing from those of Mr. Daniels as to the preparedness of the American navy, which had led to the general belief in naval circles that he would not be chosen for the new position of Chief of Naval Operations—recently created by Congress corresponding in importance to the chief of staff of the United States army.

Secretary Daniels said to-night he had not determined upon whom he would appoint to the post, but that he had asked the advice of Admiral Wadsworth to-day and would confer with Admiral Fletcher, Capt. Winterhalter and other naval officers of high rank in the near future as to the best way of organizing the new bureau. President Wilson will be consulted before a final selection is made.

The Secretary stated to-night that he was not given the reason for Admiral Fiske's request to be relieved of his post and had not decided to what duty he would assign him. He has another year to serve before retiring from the active list and has already commanded three different divisions of a fleet. If not assigned to sea again to replace the officer who might be brought to Washington to become chief of naval operations, Admiral Fiske may be appointed to the General Board of the navy or to the command of one of the navy yards.

Foreigner Assisted in Mexico.

San Antonio, Texas, April 5.—Eleven foreigners have been assassinated recently in the City of Mexico, according to Arthur Bullard Johnson, an attorney representing jointly the two thousand Americans of the city and the International Committee of the Capital District, who passed through here last night on his way to Washington. The persons assassinated, according to the statement of the International Committee, counselled by the diplomatic corps, says Mr. Johnson, were an American, a Swede, three Ottomans and six Spaniards. “I carry affidavits,” continued Mr. Johnson, “in the following statement: “Oregon stated at the time of the first occupation of the capital he would not recognize foreigners until foreigners recognized him, and publicly stated at the time of the second occupation that he would ‘live to see the day when a cross would mark the place where the City of Mexico once stood.’”

Rheumatic Pains Relieved. Why suffer from rheumatism when relief may be had at so small a cost? Mrs. Elmer Hatch, Peru, Ind., writes, “I have been subject to attacks of rheumatism for years. Chamberlain's Liniment always relieves me immediately, and I take pleasure in recommending it to others.” 25 and 50 cent bottles. For sale by all dealers.

Kentucky's Road Fund. Frankfort, Ky., April 8.—According to an estimate of revenues from the 5-cent road tax, based on the 1914 assessments, furnished Commissioner of Roads R. C. Terrell by State Auditor H. M. Bosworth, the 2 per cent, which is the maximum amount any one county may draw on the road fund in any one year, will amount to approximately $13,164. The total road fund upon this estimate will be $658,220, available out of this year's revenues, which includes $109,760.12, now to the credit of the road fund from the automobile department.

Commissioner Terrell is estimating the amount each county will draw from the fund this year. The State will put dollar for dollar with the counties for actual road construction under the State supervision up to 2 per cent of the total road fund each year. This provision was inserted in the law so that no large rich county could appropriate a big road fund and get the bulk of the State aid.

Doctor's Office and Dwelling for Sale. We have listed for sale two acres good ground containing doctor's office, 5-room dwelling, all necessary out-buildings, 2 wells water, 1 cistern and orchard. Splendid location for physician. None within a radius of five miles. Easy terms to right party. Call on, or address BARNETT & SON, Agts., Hartford, Ky.

OFFICER KILLED WIFE FOUND NOT GUILTY

She Persisted in Following Her Husband Front Against Orders.

Paris, April 10.—Captain Jean Herial, a French cavalry officer, tried by a court martial for the killing of his wife at Compeigne last November, because she persisted in following the army to be near him in direct violation of orders issued by the military authorities, was acquitted today. She had pleaded love and a desire to be near him if he was wounded. Paris forgot the big phase of the war and awaited with characteristic excitement the result of the trial.

It was brought out today that Captain Herial became mentally unbalanced through worry over possible results of his wife's refusal to obey the law and leave him.

Seldom has a more pathetic scene been witnessed in Paris in a court than that of today when Captain Herial took the stand in his own defense. The soldier wept as he told of the great love he bore for his wife, and how, when she steadfastly refused to return home, he believed he would be “cashiered” because “absolutely mad and was driven to the last extremity,” that of killing his loved one. The court room was crowded with women and officers, and as Herial sobbed out his story many of them shed tears of sympathy.

Cabinet Members Nervous Wrecks.

The war, as one would suppose, is telling visibly on the nerves of the cabinet. This has taken a curious form in at least two of the members. Both Asquith and Lloyd George have shown a strange unwillingness to have their hair cut, and it is facetiously reported in the House of Commons that the latter has made a vow he will not clip his already long locks until peace has been signed. One wonders what he will look like if the war lasts the twenty years mentioned in a recent speech by the premier.

At any rate, his long hair now gives the chancellor a strange appearance. With his half-gray locks sticking out from beneath his slouch hat he looks like some old man of the woods who has been dragged from his secret hermitage into a strange world of civilization.

Asquith's hair has turned quite white. The nervous strain of the war has accentuated his mannerisms in the House. Winston Churchill at times is in a terrible state. At one critical moment in the House he actually broke down and cried, which reminds me of the story, which I have on the best of authority, that Sir Edward Grey broke down at the cabinet meeting at which the ultimatum to Germany was decided upon.

These stories can be readily believed when it is remembered how great a responsibility each of these men is bearing. Somehow the general public gets the idea that the cabinet of twenty men meet so many times a week to discuss naval movements or army movements, or foreign affairs, and thus assume a divided responsibility. Such, however, is not the case. Under the present system each department of the British Government is a sort of watertight compartment. A few weeks ago the outbreak of war a member of the cabinet told me that they all made agreements with each other whereby they were not to be told what was happening in any but their own department. For instance, the president of the Board of Trade was not to be told about military or naval affairs. Thus one can partly realize the breaking strain on Winston Churchill when he sat down in the House of Commons during Sir Edward Grey's war speech when it is known that the day before the youthful half-American first lord of the admiralty had on his own responsibility sent the grand fleet into the North Sea under sealed orders. As matters developed, that was the only correct move, but at the time it held many responsibilities of irretrievable disaster for the daring minister.

LATEST WAR NEWS

Monday.

United States.—Charging that the United States is building up a new industry in the exportation of arms to enemies of Germany, and that American diplomacy has found no relief for neutral shippers of non-contraband to Germany, the United States is urged for alleged failure to observe neutrality in the memorandum handed the State Department by Ambassador von Bernstorff.

France.—The French offensive continues to make progress in the Woivre district, according to the Paris official statement, and military critics say the Germans will be compelled to send reinforcements to strengthen their wedge, which penetrates St. Mihiel.

Russia.—The Russians are making progress in the capture of important points which are essential before a general forward movement can be undertaken. They are in possession of the whole principle chain of the Carpathians and at some points are descending the southern slopes and are approaching, if they are not already in the Uzsoy Valley, south of the passage of that name.

Turkey.—Hamadan, an important trading center in Persia, has been captured by Turkish forces. The allied fleet has, according to unofficial reports been bombarding the Dardanelles forts from the Gulf of Saros. This doubtless is being done to prevent the Turks from repairing the forts. It is not believed here that the "big attack" will be resumed until the land forces arrive.

Tuesday.

Russia.—The battles in the Carpathians, in progress for eighty days, are regarded as nearing a termination, and the Russians are said to be moving at various points by rail, rivers and roads down the Carpathian slopes into Hungary, where little resistance is expected.

England.—The British steamer Wayfarer which had been in the Liverpool-Galveston trade for ten years and had recently been requisitioned by the British Government, was badly damaged by a torpedo or mine, and is being towed into Queenstown. One hundred and twenty men from the Wayfarer have been landed at Falmouth.

Germany.—It is reported that Germany will make reprisals against British officers who are prisoners for the treatment being accorded prisoners of German submarines in England. Reports of heavy firing in the North Sea are persistent, but no official information of a naval battle is forthcoming.

United States.—Moved by appeals for relief from the owners of American ships and cargo now held in British ports, the State Department is preparing further representations to the British Government requesting quicker action by the prize courts.

Wednesday.

Russia.—Russia's efforts to hammer through the Carpathian passes have been checked by the heavy reinforcements thrown in behind the Austrians by Germany. One report has it that the German Emperor personally is directing the campaign. The German General Staff is evidently in charge.

England.—The British Government has agreed to pay for the cargo of the American steamer Wilhelmina and also compensate the owners for the loss due to the delay encountered.

Parliament meets today and it is expected that the Government's liquor plan will be presented for radiation.

France.—Since the successful offensive of last week the French have been contented to hold their own, according to last night's War Office statement.

Italy.—Warlike preparations on the part of Italy continue.

Thursday.

England.—Field Marshal French, in a detailed account of the battle of Neuve Chapelle, places the British casualties at 12,711. Of the German losses, the Field Marshal says "the enemy left several thousand dead on the field and we have positive information that upward of 12,900 wounded were removed by train. Thirty officers and 1,657 of other ranks were captured." A German Zeppelin airship passed over Blyth and other towns, dropping bombs in each.

Russia.—The battle of the moment is going on in the Carpathians, particularly in Uzsoy Pass, where the Austrians and Germans have brought the Russian advance almost to a standstill.

Austria.—According to Geneva dispatches Emperor William, upon receiving a report that negotiations had failed between Austria and Italy, made a hurried trip to Vienna to confer with Emperor Francis Joseph.

ROBERTS UNABLE TO PROVIDE BOND

None of Terre Haute Politicians Who Have Appealed Has Left Jail.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Mayor Donn Roberts and fifteen others who have appealed from their sentences to the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth Kansas, given them yesterday by Judge Anderson, following their conviction in the Terre Haute election fraud case, were still in the Marion jail at noon today. Some of them, however, hoped to obtain bonds late today, so that they would not have to spend another night in jail.

With two exceptions all those who received sentences to the Marion county jail had begun serving their time today. John W. Clark was still under a smallpox quarantine in Tynjorsville, across the river from Terre Haute, and Guy Powell is in the United States army. George Kintz, the third man who was not in court yesterday, appeared at the jail last night and asked to be locked up. The Jailor, however, had no commitment paper from Kintz and he was told to report to Judge Anderson today and receive his papers. Kintz said he had been ill in bed.

The bonds, in addition to the large amounts, must provide for the payment of the cost of the case, amounting to more than $12,000, and also guarantee the payment of the fine if the case is upheld by the higher courts.

Maurice Walsh, County Sealer of Weights and measures and treasurer of the Democratic County Committee, withdrew from the appeal this afternoon and was handed his commitment papers. He was permitted to remain at his home until Sunday noon and will make the trip to Leavenworth with the four who withdrew from the appeal late yesterday, and without guards.

Walsh was sentenced to serve a year and a day in the Leavenworth prison and to pay a fine of $100. Before sentence was passed yesterday he declared in open court he was "absolutely innocent of any wrong intentions."

Judge Anderson reported that the defendant seemed to "regard the Indiana corrupt practice act as a huge joke," and then discussed Walsh's statement of campaign receipts and expenditures, declaring that "it was as false as false could be."

The withdrawal of Walsh from the appeal leaves fifteen still seeking release on appeal bonds.

Socialism and Unemployment.

There'll be no movement under Socialism, because the workers will employ themselves by collectively owning the means of employment. Hence, also, there'll be no need of charity, for Socialism is industrial freedom and economic justice, which will insure employment and a good living for all.

Upon industry depends the opportunity to live. Upon industry, then, depends the supplying of need, the attainment of comfort, a chance for wholesome recreation, opportunity for education, and the satisfying of higher aspirations.

Under capitalism opportunity for workers does not exist, and the supplying of human needs, a chance for recreation and for education is small, higher aspirations cannot be entertained, and comfort is unattainable, because the private ownership of land and capital, and of all the means of production and distribution of wealth, deprives the worker of time, means and opportunity by taking a profit from his industry which leaves him barely enough to sustain an animal existence.

We must look to industry as the basis for all work for Social uplift and economic welfare in the community.

Industry established on the wrong basis of private ownership and profits (derived from labor exploitation) means that everything in our industrial system and in our social order; nor can charity or mere philanthropy right the wrong. The wrong is fundamental capitalism, the fundamental wrong, must be abolished, and production must be for use instead of for profit, which robs the whole working class.

Humanity cannot endure idleness and pauperism, entailed by profit-taking from labor, because idleness and pauperism are destructive of the well-being of society.

Industrial Democracy and a co-operative Commonwealth must own and control the machinery of production and distribution and socialize and democratize them both, in order to abolish unemployment and poverty.

The socialized state, having control of the tools of industry, through and by collective and ownership of the Means of Production and Distribution, will set men and women to work to supply the needs of all, and with fewer hours of labor, too!
